

^ DIRECT FROM CDC ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH SERVICES

and eld team focused approach. The course emphasizes the use of eld equipment and co9i v 1.ing persona31000100120Ays7eld t4aTw

In fall 2017, San Diego County, with assistance from the California Department of Public Health (CDPH), presented three sessions of the Environmental Health Training in Emergency Response Operations (EHTER Ops) course in a novel 2-day version. Until then, EHTER Ops had been offered exclusively at the Federal Emergency Management Agency's (FEMA) Center for Domestic Preparedness (CDP) in Anniston, Alabama, as a 4-day resident course. EHTER Ops is a course that prepares participants to assess disaster-related environmental health conditions and perform tasks in a hands-on

